Paolo Masi's (Fattoria di Basciano) 2016 Chianti Rufina Riserva is a linear and elegant wine. The bouquet starts off with dried cherry and dark fruit, but just as much attention is given to nuanced aromas of crushed stone or brimstone. The mouthfeel shows medium intensity, and the tannins add some dryness; however, this wine produces very food-friendly qualities, especially if pasta or lasagna is on the menu. This is 93% Sangiovese and 7% Colorino and 20,000 bottles were made.

The Fattoria di Basciano 2018 I Pini is a blend of equal parts Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Syrah aged in oak for 18 months. The wine is concentrated and rich, showing black and purple fruit aromas of plum and blackberry. As the wine opens in the glass, it starts to show more spice definition and a hint of campfire ash or burnt ember. This full-bodied Tuscan red would pair with meats or sausage grilled over an open flame. Some 10,000 bottles were made.

The 2018 Chianti Rufina shows a darkly saturated appearance and opens to aromas of cassis, plum and dark cherry. Sangiovese is blended with 5% Colorino. There are some subtle tones of toast and spice at the back, but these aromas fold neatly into the thicker concentration of this fruity Tuscan red. This is a mid-weight wine with the succulence and softness to pair with grilled pork or lamb. Production is 160,000 bottles.

This is a blend of mostly Sangiovese (90%) and a bit of Cabernet Sauvignon. The 2018 Vigna Il Corto displays a richly saturated appearance followed by dark fruit aromas of plum, blackberry, spice and leather. This broad, mid-weight red delivers the power and textural richness to pair with a classic roast chicken with potatoes. Production is 10,000 bottles.
